Predmet úpravy	✓ This first annual report from the Commission on progress in developing the electronic systems describes the developments since the UCC entered into force. For this purpose, it draws on the UCC WP which sets out a phased and coherent timetable reflecting the stages of development for each of the seventeen electronic systems and which is considered as the baseline for reporting progress. The projects listed in the UCC WP can be divided into three system categories: I)eleven trans-European central systems to be developed or upgraded by the Commission (often also requiring developments or upgrades by the Member States of national systems); II)three decentralised trans-European systems that have to be developed or upgraded by the Commission but have a major national component to be implemented by the Member States; and III)three national systems that have to be developed or upgraded by the Member States themselves. ✓ This report analyses the progress for all three system types, outlining also the objectives to be met by each project, the project architecture and the planning approach. On that basis, it highlights potential delays as well as mitigating measures envisaged. The overall assessment of the progress of the implementation of the UCC WP is summarised in the conclusion section of this report.
